

ACEROLA

Acerola juice concentrate and acerola puree are two of the many types of products supplied by iTi Tropicals.

Fruit Overview:

Acerola is a small, deep-red, cherry-like fruit native to the West Indies, Brazil, and the Caribbean Islands. Also known as the Barbados cherry or West-Indian cherry, acerola is one of the most vitamin-rich fruits. It is a potent source of natural vitamin C and bio-flavonoids, as well as pro-vitamin A, vitamin B1, B2, B3, iron, phosphorous and calcium. Its pulp has a distinctive fruity and sweet flavor described as a cross between a tart lime and a berry.

Food Application:

Acerola fruit and juice concentrates can be used in many products including ice cream, juice, soft drinks, nectar, jelly, gummy candies, fruit preserves, yogurt, and desserts. The tartness of acerola blends well with other juices such as banana, papaya, mango, and coconut water. It can also be used as a natural source of Vitamin C, for clean label products.

Available Product:

iTi offers both a single-strength acerola juice from Brazil, which has a minimum Vitamin C content of 1500mg/100g (25-times the daily value) and an acerola 65 brix concentrate with a minimum of 12,000mg/100g (200-times the daily value). All of our acerola products are 100% natural, carefully selected, and processed to maintain the nutritional properties of the original fruit. No preservatives, flavors, or other additives are used. All iTi acerola products are Kosher-certified and manufactured under a certified quality system.
